

The High-Speed Train

Half of the summer vacation has passed already. Last week, I went to my aunt's house to visit for one week.

The day before we went to my aunt's home, my mum told me and my brother, 'Tomorrow we will take the high-speed train to your aunt's house.' When we heard the news, we jumped for joy because it was our first time to take the high-speed train. My mother also said that the high-speed train was called Shenzhen North Station. It is very large, with more than twelve ticket gates inside. The restaurant area is on the upper floor.

The day I was looking forward to finally arrived. We took the bus for half an hour and finally arrived at Shenzhen North Railway Station. First, my aunt took my brother and I to eat. Afterwards we boarded the high-speed train and sat on comfortable seats.

An hour later, we arrived at Puning Station. My brother and I said, "this journey is so fast!" I really want to have a ride on high speed train again.
