

Danny's School Day

Today, our English teacher, Miss Ho, was telling the class about the homework. She said, "Today's homework is about what you want to be when you grow up." Everyone was scratching their heads.

At recess, Tim and Danny were talking about the writing homework that Miss Ho gave. Tim said, "I want to be a firefighter when I grow up so I can save many people. They will call me a hero." Danny shook his head and said, "I don't think that being a firefighter or a businessman is fun. I want to be a social worker so that I can talk to people in need." Just in time, the bell rang and they went back to their seats.

After school, they saw a tour guide on their way home. Danny was excited because he loved history. Tim was excited as well, so they asked the tour guide if they could join her. The tour guide nodded her head. Tim and Danny were so happy.

In the end, they went inside a museum and learnt a lot of things about the job, the displays and more. They also learnt about different places in Hong Kong, too!
